

WAITIN' FOR YOU (for Mary Ellen)

INTRO: D/F#m/Bm/G/A

A E D

I could spend my whole life waitin' for you

A E D

To remember the dream that we lost

A E D

It's a dangerous age, but the sky is still blue

A E D

We both know we paid the cost

Bm G

Waitin' for you, waitin' for you

I know that you know I put you to the test Pushed all the limits and more
Shook the foundations, denied you your rest
But I never ever let you close the door
Waitin' for you, waitin' for you

You know that I know all the secret storms
The little raging wars of the mind Blasted all the feelings until they seemed deformed
Well it takes a little while to unwind
Waitin' for you, waitin' for you

I could lay a thousand memories down at your feet
The good, the bad, the sad and the mad
I might waste my time but I won't stand for defeat
Or for somethin' that I never had Waitin' for you, waitin' for you

All the times that we talked and didn't say a word
It's like something scorched my conscience and my soul
There's no defense but I was in a place, the name
nobody's heard

Waiting for the clouds to unroll
Waitin' for you, waitin' for you

I can taste your lips in the cool night air
Your blue eyes pierce through my mind
And light up the darkest corners of my deepest despair
But somehow I'm still left following behind

D

Are you waitin' too?

OUTRO: D Bm F#M (4X)

A
